

5 things

5 Things to never do when receiving a prophetic word.

1. Never start speaking in tongues as the prophet shares truth.
2. Never have anything crossed: fingers toes, arms legs, ankles, anything pertaining to your physical anatomy. This sends a subliminal mixed message and can be interpreted to cancel the Word being spoken over and into your life.
3. Never nod unless asked a question. Or unless the Father tells you to agree.
4. Never say amen if the word is in error.
5. Never dismiss a Word you don't understand. Not all prophecy is confirmation. Most should be information.

5 Things you need to lead:

1. Patience
2. Thick skin (not easily provoked)
3. Be Tenacious
4. Flexible without Compromise
5. Effective in Communication

These you need in abundance

*This is not to be taken as an all you need list, but a list of things you definitely will need to lead effectively.

5 Things to do while you wait on God

1. Acknowledge/Accept the fact that you must wait
2. Confess the promised thing that you're waiting on
3. Speak the written and prophetic Word over your life.
4. Avoid the temptation to become discontent.
5. Renew your strength at every opportunity through worship, prayer, Godly fellowships, the psalms and songs.
